CHANG TSO-LIN INSISTS UPON BUTCHERY OF SLAYER'S KIN

Demands Torture And Death Of Mother And Sisters

"FACE" INVOLVED

Intense Feeling Aroused In Honan, Home Of Would Be Victims

BY JOSEF W. HALL

Peking, June 20.—General Chang Tso-lin has repeated his demand that the entire family of the assassin of General Wu be exterminated. General Wu was shot to death in Tientsin by a member of his own bodyguard, the assailant having fled into the river and been shot by his pursuers.

The death of General Wu concerned the Fengtien war-lord to a much greater extent that has yet been made known. The President, upon request of Chang Tso-lin, had signed a mandate making Wu the Commander of the 27th Division, and upon the very evening upon which this mandate was to have been published, Wu was assassinated. Wu had been acting as Chang's confidential agent and spy upon the Chihli party in Tientsin. He was to have taken over the 27th Division in order to free that leader for the task of ousting Chiang Kwei-ti, the old Tutung of Chahar, from his command at Kalgan. Old General Chiang has long been in the way of Chang Tso-lin's ambitions, and is still the unremoved obstacle to Chang's control of Inner Mongolia.

General Wu's assassin was not, as published officially, a comparative stranger to his victim. He was one of Wu's most trusted men, an officer in his bodyguard. Close investigation has failed to disclose any proofs that the man's loyalty had been won by the Fengtien party's enemies, yet Chang Tso-lin feels that nothing but the most horrible form of vengeance which it is possible in China to exact is compatible with his dignity.

Chang's demand for the beheading after torture of the assassin's old mother, brothers and sisters-in-law and their families, (the father is not living) and the turning of their households into the proverbial dung-heap, has aroused intense feeling in Honan, where these persons are residents. This feeling is being fostered by Chang's enemies there.

This form of punishment has, of course, been abolished by the new Chinese penal code, but those who look at the matter from a judicial light, state that even under the Manchu code such vengeance for a crime of this nature, would be impossible, as it was exacted only in cases of high treason and not in cases of assassination.

President Harding Sends Picture To Consul-General

From the wall in the private office of Mr. Edwin S. Cunningham, American Consul-General, an excellent framed photograph of President Harding will in future look down on those who visit the office. The picture was recently sent to Mr. Cunningham by President Harding and its value is enhanced by the inscription in the handwriting of the National Executive which says:

"To Edwin S. Cunningham.
"With greetings and good wishes from the executive offices at home.
"Warren G. Harding."

BLAND HAS DRASTIC CURE FOR CHINA'S CHRONIC ILLS

Noted Writer Urges Intervention By Western Powers

HITS AT TUCHUNS

'Rabble Armies Must Be Disbanded, Fiscal System Installed'

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 19.—As regards the British Cabinet's advocacy of a renewed understanding with Japan, the Observer's diplomatic correspondent says the Cabinet makes a fundamental point of its desire to prevent the partition of China, to preserve the open door in China and to give her a fair chance.

Mr. J. O. P. Bland, in an article in the Observer, emphasises that no renewal of the Alliance can serve to promote peace in the Far East unless it sincerely re-asserts the article in the existing Treaty, providing for the independence and integrity of China.

He declares that China's weakness constitutes the pivotal fact of the Far Eastern problem. If this weakness is to be cured, China's independence preserved, and its resources developed to the general advantage, it will be necessary before long, says Mr. Bland, for the Powers concerned to intervene and insist on certain real reforms, namely, the disbandment of the Tuchuns' rabble armies, the reorganisation of the Administration, and the restoration of normal fiscal relations between Peking and the provinces.

If, as he hopes and believes, Mr. Bland concludes, the Japanese Government is ready to cooperate in these reforms, the renewal of the Alliance will be an event of good augury and welcome to every true friend of China.

Peking, June 19.—The Government has received telegrams from the Chambers of Commerce at Amoy, Nanchang, Wuhu & many other places in China, urging the Government to protest against the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty. The Chinese Chamber of Commerce in London has telegraphed, asking that experienced diplomats should be sent to Europe to work there against the renewal, and numbers of telegrams have also been received, voicing the protests of Chinese communities in other parts of the world.

London, June 20.—The Daily Telegraph gives prominence to an article by Mr. Lenox Simpson, in which he blames the Anglo-Japanese Treaty for the turmoil and intrigue which exist in China, and contends that, if the Alliance is allowed to lapse, a remarkable change will ensue, China and Japan becoming friends and equals.

Mr. Simpson appeals to the Dominion Premiers to study and grasp the fact that the present conditions in China, coupled with Great Britain's and Japan's commitments, constitute the gravest menace in the Pacific.

Live, Think, Work, Advises Chauncey M. Depew At 87 Years

"LIVE moderately, think moderately, work moderately, and enjoy your fellow man and woman." That is the advice of Chauncey M. Depew veteran statesman, and known as the world's champion after-dinner story-teller, who has just passed the grand age of eighty-seven. Mr. Depew, who is still at work as chairman of the board of directors of the New York Central Railroad, is young—younger in appearance and actions than he has been in twenty-five years. He admits he feels younger than he did in 1897. "I ascribe my good physical condition to having faith," said Dr. Depew. "I got my religious faith from my mother. I retain that faith because my mother taught me fundamental principles of religious practises, so that my belief has never been shaken by anything I have seen in seventy years I have been active in public affairs." Mr. Depew said he had succeeded in getting a "good start" in life, and that it is his ambition to live a century.

DEATH THREATS SENT TO COURT BY PEKING 'REDS'

Assessor And Magistrate In Anarchist Case Get Warning

Disclosure was made yesterday of the fact that threats of assassination have been received by British Assessor Blackbul and Magistrate Kwan of the Mixed Court in connection with the case of the five students involved in the shooting episode and distribution of anarchistic literature at Hongkew Park during the Olympic Games.

The disclosure was made by the Court just previous to judgment being served on the accused, the principal defendant—the youth who fired the pistol and was charged with attempting to murder Park-keeper Crooks and a boy scout—being sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. Three others were sentenced to six months' imprisonment, to be followed by expulsion, and the fifth, who was able to show that he was not a member of any organisation and had been merely drawn into the affair, was simply expelled from the Settlement.

At the outset of yesterday's proceedings the Court made further effort to straighten out the identity of the accused and obtain information regarding the secret organisations with which they are connected. They again denied being affiliated with the so-called "Anarchist Party" or the "People's Voice Society" mentioned in the handbills distributed at the park.

The letter threatening the Court, translated, reads as follows:

"To the Magistrates
and Assessors,
Mixed Court, Shanghai.
Peking, June 10, 1921.

"Gentlemen.—Wei Ch'i, Chih P'ing and the four others are warm hearted patriots and their aim is to promote the happiness of the human race. Now they have been arrested for circulating handbills advocating liberty, equality, fraternity and enlightenment for the human race, an aim in which they should receive the sympathy of all sensible beings.

"You are generally respected for your uprightness, and we request you therefore to release the men who have been arrested with all speed and restore them their liberty, otherwise the members of this party will be driven by their rage to go to Shanghai, where we swear that with bombs and revolvers we will offer you up as the victims of our sacrifice.

"We are fighting for liberty and prefer to be fragments of broken jade rather than an unbroken earthenware tile. We have long valued our own lives as nought, and if driven to it we would not hesitate to blow everything to bits.

"Now, gentlemen, look clearly and see where your advantage lies.

"Yours in anger,
"Anarchist Party, Peking."

COAL MINERS URGE OTHER UNIONISTS TO JOIN STRIKE

Decision Like 'Bomb Shell'; Deadlock Worse Than Ever

LIKELY TO FAIL

Action Taken In Spite Of Workers' Aversion To Further Tie-Up

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 18.—The Miners' Executive today decided to ask all Trade Unions which are affected by wage disputes to meet them shortly, with the object of taking national action with the miners to secure their respective demands. Mr. Frank Hodges, Secretary of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, said this implied a general strike if the other unions agreed.

The decision of the Miners' Executive to adopt this course has come as a bomb-shell. It makes the deadlock appear worse than ever. The Government's grant automatically lapses today, and the miners have no longer an opportunity of resuming work with an initial reduction not exceeding two shillings per day.

The position of the Executive is embarrassing as they are aware of a movement in the coalfields in favor of a resumption, despite the ballot, in which only 64 percent of the miners voted.

In view of the failure of the Triple Alliance, it is not considered likely that the other unions will contemplate a stoppage of work.

HARDING WANTS TO BE KNOWN AS MARINE REVIVER

President Discloses Ambition; Advocates Private Development

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, June 18.—President Harding, in discussing questions of policy with members of the United States Shipping Board, said he desired, when he left office, to be known as the head of the administration under which the American Merchant Marine was re-established.

This, he said, was not to be accomplished speedily, but must be built on development and private initiative.

London, June 20.—In a letter to The Times this morning, Lord Inchcape says that nine former German ships which were advertised for sale to British nationals only and which are still being used by the Germans for repatriating refugees from the Baltic provinces, on behalf of the League of Nations, have been sold to a German buyer, with the concurrence of the Reparations Commission, for an uncommonly good price which it would be impossible to obtain from British buyers.

It has now been decided after June 30 to throw open the market to the world for ships left unsold to British buyers. Lord Inchcape declared that the liquid resources of British shipowners appear to be getting exhausted owing to high wages, taxation, strikes, etc.

American Soldier Of Fortune Home From Wars With English Bride

"JOE" Stehlin, Brooklyn, N. Y. soldier of fortune and hero of numerous air battles, is home from the wars with a pretty English bride. Stehlin, who holds a colonel's commission in the Lettish Army, married the new Mrs. Stehlin in Paris recently. She is the daughter of General Ewart, of the British Army and met her warrior husband while serving as a nurse in France.

Before the United States entered the war Colonel Stehlin went to France and joined the Lafayette Escadrille, winning several decorations for valor. When Uncle Sam took a hand in the conflict, Stehlin was commissioned a lieutenant in the U.S. Air Service and distinguished himself in aerial battles over the American front. After the armistice he went to Poland and joined the Polish forces. Following several months of service with the Poles, Stehlin was commissioned a colonel in the Lettish Army and given command of the Lettish air squadron. He wears thirteen medals, awarded him by the various governments whom he has served in the past six years.

If All 'Face' In China Had Whiskers, Barber Shops Would Soon Be Hay Mows

BY ELSIE McCORMICK

If all the face that is saved annually in China could only be stored up in a godown or somewhere, there would be enough on hand to supply features for several generations to come. Saving face ranks, next to saving cash, as the greatest national industry. Of course the ambition to save face is not entirely unknown in the Western world, being the inspiration for the nose-guards worn by football heroes and the reason why most men shave themselves. It is in China, however, that it has been developed to the point of a technique with a ritual more elaborate than that of a negro lodge ceremony.

Saving face might also be described as the art of letting people down easy. It teaches how to call a man a thief in the course of three polite letters and five cups of tea, how to dismiss an employe by begging him to remain at his post, and how to put the skates under an unwelcome guest without glancing at the clock or handing him his hat.

The Chinese proclivity for ready-to-wear excuses and the general talent for light fiction of an extemporaneous character have undoubtedly been fostered by the face-saving habit.

The system probably grew out of a double desire to conserve personal dignity on all occasions and to follow the usual Chinese practice of handling social situations with velvet gloves instead of with padded ones. The average Chinese is about as fond of a fight as a watermelon thief is of a barbed wire fence. He therefore feels that the hour spent embroidering verbal Mandarin costumes to clothe naked truth are well-worth the strain on his time and originality.

GETTING THE BOUNCE

Take the matter of a dismissal, for instance. In the crude Western world, an unsatisfactory employe would be summoned to his chief's office and informed that the peg occupied by his hat and coat was to be undecorated by the end of the week. The very word "fired" suggests the usual speed of the process.

In China, however, a man is sacked so gently that he doesn't know whether somebody has separated him from his job or handed him a bouquet. As a rule, a third party approaches the superfluous clerk and remarks that he is really wasting his unusual talents on his present position, that there isn't nearly enough future in it for him, and that though the firm would be sadly crippled by his loss, they are willing, for his sake, to allow him to go as soon as he finds something commensurate with his very great ability. The clerk thereupon takes the hint, but continues the face-saving process by committing verbal murder and asking for a leave of absence to attend a funeral in a conveniently distant part of the province. His employer thanks him for his past work, praises his ability, and urges him to return as soon as the leave of absence is up. The sacked employe therefore departs in a blaze of congratulations and glory, nor does he feel that truth is outraged if he goes to work next day with a firm across the street.

HOW IT'S DONE

An employe of a large Chinese company in this city observed from certain changes in the office barometer that it might be well for him to fold up his tent like the Arab in the poem. He therefore sent a letter to the board of directors asking for a leave of absence. The reply nominated him for the Hall of Fame and recoiled like a man picking up a telephone receiver during a thunder storm at the thought of his possible departure. A second letter brought a similar reply, but the fatal third acquiesced to his request under great pressure and granted him the leave. As a matter of fact, the first missive demanding that he remain was a hint of dismissal, for if the company had meant to retain him, etiquette would require that it make no official reply whatever. The question would have been discussed informally through a third party.

Perhaps no class of people are let down on more soft and sunlit beds of roses than scribes whose manuscripts are being rejected by a Chinese publication. American authors receive a printed slip remarking with telegraphic curtness that the contribution is "unavailable." A typical Chinese rejection form tells the writer that the office thought his masterpiece ravishingly beautiful, that it deserves to rank with the greatest classics, and that the only reason it is not used is because the publication does not wish to discourage its more humble contributors by printing such an incomparable pearl. The Western author who received such an answer would be down at eight o'clock the next morning with another manuscript, but the Chinese writer, schooled in the art of social circumnavigation, reads

JAPAN WILL RECOGNISE SIBERIAN REPUBLIC—IF

—The Chita Government Will Make Vital Concessions

HEAVY DEMANDS

Stipulations Call For Practical Surrender Of Sovereignty

(From A Staff Correspondent)

Peking, June 20.—The Chinese government has been informed by an "observer" stationed at Chita by the Peking government that Japan has presented eight stipulations to the government of the Far Eastern Republic as the basis of recognition. The demands are said to be similar to those presented to the Vladivostok government prior to the recent overthrow.

The Japanese stipulations are:

1.—Japan must be permitted to navigate the rivers in the territory of the Far Eastern Republic.

2.—Japan must be permitted to participate in the communications system of the Far Eastern Republic.

3.—Japan must have unlimited opportunity to exploit forests.

4.—Japan must have unlimited opportunity to develop mines.

5.—The government of the Far Eastern Republic must recognise Japan's special rights in the Heilungkiang area.

6.—The Far Eastern Republic must recognise all the rights guaranteed to Japan under the former Russo-Japanese treaty.

7.—The Far Eastern Republic must indemnify Japan for lives and property lost in the Siberian disturbances.

8.—The Far Eastern Republic must give satisfactory guarantees that it will become a true democracy, capable of protecting the lives and property of Japanese.

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, June 16.—The note recently forwarded by Mr. Kojevnikoff, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, to the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Japan, through the Japanese Mission at Vladivostok, relating to all events in the Russo-Japanese relation during the past year, concludes with the following words:

"It is unnecessary to point out that these acts of the Japanese Command have aroused the deep indignation of the Russian population. When last December you inquired by letter whether the Government of the Far Eastern Republic recognised the agreement concluded by the Japanese Command and the Provisional Government of Maritime Province, the Zemstvo Administration, we answered that, for the sake of a speedy evacuation of our troops, we had ordered your municipal authorities to closely observe the agreement for the time being.

"Our local authorities have sacredly obeyed our order and have not violated the agreement entered into with the Japanese Command. This proves how great was the desire of the Russian people for friendship with the Japanese nation.

"If we hereby once more repeat all these events known so well to you, it is only because we still believe that the Japanese people and the Japanese Imperial Government do not approve the actions of the Japanese expeditionary forces, that they will do everything to put an end to the growing hostile feelings between the two great neighboring nations, and that they will reach a new understanding through the only and mutually advantageously way of establishing peaceful treaty relations.

"We believe that you are fully aware of the fatal abyss into which both nations have been driven by the acts of the Japanese Command. We, therefore, ask you to take necessary measures on your part to enable us to immediately introduce our forces into the regions under Japanese occupation for the purpose of suppressing the rebellion and of resuming the normal function of the People's Assembly. Provincial Administration, and all the legal representatives of the Far Eastern Republic acting under the provisions of the Constitution of the Republic."

Lock Reckless Drivers In Room With Wax Ghost, 'Health Preservers' Plea

The motor car menace received the attention of the "Health Precautionary Association" in meeting Sunday at the Ningpo Association building, coming in for lengthy debate and resulting in the drawing up of a set of suggested regulations which are to be submitted to the Council. The first and last of these are of a particularly engaging novelty.

A handbook of directions for pedestrians was also among the suggestions offered, but no details were mentioned in this connection.

After the pertinent preliminary of changing the organisation name to the "Life Protection Association," the members subscribed themselves in advocation of the following:

"1—All motor cars have rubber tired wheels and run without noise. It is too late to blow a horn when a car has already collided with a pedestrian. A car should have a very small bell attached to one of the front wheels and this bell should be kept ringing all the time so that when pedestrians hear it they can get out of the way. This bell should be half the size of a bicycle bell. Each car should have a speed limit, but the Fire

ALLIES PROPOSE MEDIATION FOR GREEKS-TURKS

Proposal To Be Sent To Athens When Italian Envoy Concurs

PROSPECTS SEEM GOOD

Lord Curzon And Premier Briand Also Discuss Silesian Issue

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, June 18.—The British Foreign Minister, Lord Curzon and M. Briand held a conference today, the discussions covering the general foreign policy of Great Britain and France, particularly as regards Eastern problems. The Italian Ambassador here has been invited to participate in the discussion.

Paris, June 19.—It is stated on trustworthy authority that Lord Curzon has proposed the initiation of direct negotiations with a view to securing peace in the Near East. The idea is that Greece should first be approached with a request that she should allow the settlement to be left in the hands of the Allies. If Greece accepts, the Turks would then be approached.

Should the Turks then refuse, it is suggested that the Allies should lighten the financial restrictions they have hitherto imposed on Greece. Should the Turks accept, they would be guaranteed the benefits conferred under the London Agreement.

Paris, June 19.—Lord Curzon had a conference with M. Aristide Briand (Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs) at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, lasting from 10.30 this morning until 3.45 this afternoon. Count Bonin Longare, the Italian Ambassador, was also present. The Near Eastern question formed the sole topic of discussion.

A Constantinople telegram announces that the Greek offensive has been repulsed.

Bekir Sami Bey, representing the Angora Government, has arrived in Rome.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 19.—The conference between Lord Curzon and M. Briand on the Near Eastern question has resulted in their coming to an agreement as to the proposals for mediation between Greece and Turkey, which will be sent to Athens when the adherence of the Italian Foreign Minister, Count Sforza, has been obtained. If Greece approves the proposal to the Allies that she should place the settlement of her dispute with Turkey in their hands, the proposed conditions will be communicated to her.

The most favorable impression continues to prevail here as to the prospects of mediation. The Allied statesmen have also deliberated at length on the Upper Silesian question.

Mixed Court Jottings

Bail of Tls. 2,000 was allowed by the Mixed Court yesterday in the case of the two men arrested in connection with the shooting at the New World Friday, when two policemen were wounded. The application was made by Mr. H. D. Rodger.

Two armed robbers were ordered sent to the arsenal to be shot yesterday. Two others were ordered handed over to the Chinese authorities for trial for crimes committed outside the Settlement. The two ordered shot belonged to gangs, other members of which have already been handed over.

Two men convicted of running an opium den at 479 Tientsin Road were given sentences of two months and one month yesterday and of four inmates arrested in the raid two paid fines of $3 each and two forfeited $10 bail money each.

A gambling raid conducted by Inspector Aiers at 35 Tongking Road Sunday night resulted in 23 arrests. Twelve of the men appeared yesterday and were fined $3 each, the others forfeiting $10 each by non-appearance.

Envoy To Rome To Seek New Pact

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 19.—A Chihling mandate has been issued appointing Mr. Tang Tsai-fu, the Chinese Minister at Rome, as delegate with full powers to negotiate and conclude a commercial treaty with the Persian representative at Rome. The negotiations were previously being carried on by Mr. Wang Kuang-chi, but as he has been transferred from Rome to the Hague, the Waichiaopu recommended the appointment of Mr. Tang.

'Health Preservers' Make Novel Plea

Brigade, doctors' and police motor cars should be exempted.

"2—All policemen, including those in plain clothes and off duty should keep a lookout for motor cars and have special powers for dealing with same. Several tens of men should be taken on by the police as plain clothes constables for the control of motor cars. The hours of their duty should be from 8 a.m to 8 p.m. and at busy places they should be kept on duty until 12 midnight. Whenever they see a car being driven at great speed or on the wrong side of the road or committing a breach of the regulations the number should be taken and prosecution should follow. The license fee should be increased to cover the expense of employment of the plain clothes men.

"3—A chauffeur should wear a brass badge on his breast. The badge should be 3 inches in diameter and should have his name and the number of his license in Chinese and English inscribed thereon. The badge should be issued by the S.M.C. at a few taels each. Then a man not licensed will not dare drive a car.

"4—All motor trucks should have rails or iron chains around the cars to ensure safety and in case of collision cargo will be prevented from falling and injuring pedestrians. Cargo should not be allowed piled too high to prevent danger when passing over bridges.

"5—There should be one licensed chauffeur and an assistant to take charge of each motor car or truck. The assistant should sit behind and keep a lookout when the car turns around, goes backward, enters or leaves the garage. The owner of the car will not mind spending a little money in employing an assistant chauffeur.

"6—At places where tram cars stop and where there is no platform motor cars should not pass tramcars.

"7—Between 2 and 7 p.m. no motor cars or carriages should proceed eastward along Nanking Road, but should take other roads.

"8—After a person is killed by a motor car a wax image of the deceased should be made and placed in a room and any chauffeur who causes injuries to others should be locked up in this room so that he will see the image and feel sorry. This may cause him to repent. This has been introduced in America and has produced successful results."

Central Trust Co., Chinese, Organised

Following the success of the Chinese Produce and Stock Exchange on Szechuen Road and Avenue Edward VII, a large number of other exchanges and trust companies are being formed. One of the latest of Chinese financial institutions is the Central Trust Co., Ltd., capitalised at $12,000,000, of which the first installment of 25 percent is being called. Already 85 percent of the amount had been paid in.

The trust company is organised by a number of Chinese native bankers, who assert they will not indulge in speculation. The trust company plans to help industrial enterprises and will undertake banking and insurance and issue industrial bonds.

The offices of the company are temporarily located at 1B Hankow Road. No date for the opening of the company for public business has been announced.

The Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce is drawing up a number of regulations to govern the operation of trust companies in China. It is reported that the shares of some of the trust companies being floated are already selling above par.

Golden State DueIn Shanghai Thursday

The Pacific Mail steamer Golden State is reported as now in Yokohama, and is expected to arrive at the Lower Wharf Thursday, and to sail for Manila and Hongkong Friday. The Golden State was five days late in leaving San Francisco, due to the Marine Engineers and Dockworkers' strike, which delayed the movement of all vessels until it was settled.

The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia, en route Vancouver from the South, is expected off Woosung Friday afternoon or evening, and will sail for the East Saturday afternoon.

The Waring Co.

The opinion of Shanghai about the return visit of the Waring Company is most easily expressed by stating that before the curtain went up on Saturday evening's performance of "Trilby," not only was the house sold out but Monday's house was sold as well.

When they left Shanghai at the end of May to visit Tientsin and Peking, Mr. Waring had promised to put on du Maurier's masterpiece, and how well he and his brilliant band have kept their word, the town now knows.

Perhaps it is because "Trilby" is a play brimming over with the humanities and with artistry, that it gets fast hold of artists and a subtle affinity is established between the characters and the players.

It is particularly fortunate for both audience and Company that Mr. Charles Quartermaine is here to play Svengali, for Svengali is to "Trilby" what the Prince of Denmark is to "Hamlet," and as Quartermaine was one of Beerbohm Tree's lieutenants, we have, in a way, received something of "the touch of a vanished hand" in watching Charles Qaurtermaine's consummate work.

This Svengali, this Ishmael of the Quartier Latin, with all his uncanny horror, with all his meannesses of spirit and intention, with all his cravenness—yet, in his inmost artistic being there is a something of nobility that Hippocrates expresses in his aphorism "Ars longa, vita brevis."

For Svengali loved Trilby, selfishly, cravenly, cruelly—but if he had not loved her, he could never have put all the music of his soul into her, and this perhaps is the clou of du Maurier's teaching—the all absorbing thralldom of real art, and the great humanness of the frame in which it is set.

Mr. Quartermaine gave a very powerful, yes, and a very beautiful rendering of this strange being, Svengali, and in those tense moments of cold horror he made one feel that his vital spark was indeed passing onward and into the automaton he had moulded from the simple clay of an artist's model.

Miss Jeannette Sherwin was, of course, the Trilby O'Ferrall, and found herself in the scene with Mrs. Bagot. It was all restrained, gentle and sweet, and in the last act, poor Trilby's death, Miss Sherwin touched great depths of poignant pathos.

One thought of the pity of it all, and yet it was better perhaps that Trilby passed, but I found a secret delight in seeing Miss Sherwin taking her calls at the curtains.

Her Trilby is really very excellent.

Mr. Peter Cresswell played "Little Billee" and gave evidence of real talent. It was a most sympathetic rendering, and he had evidently put his heart into his work with the inevitable result that he gave a charming portrait.

Mr. Annerley's "Zou Zou" was extraordinarily clever and rightly received great applause. It is not easily managed, the carousals of a good hearted Frenchman. Mr. Annerley knows how to do it with vraisemblance.

The "Taffy" of Mr. Frank Vosper and "The Laird" of Mr. Wordley Hulse were not merely masterpieces of make up but cameos of characterisation, and they brought the Victorian atmosphere across the footlights that is such an essential essence of the play.

Miss Alys Rees as Mrs. Bagot (Mother of "Little Billee") was, like "Taffy" and "The Laird" very Victorian, and consequently, artistically delightful, whilst her husband, The Reverend Thomas (Mr. James Jolly) with his clear quiet diction completed a very prim, but none the less pleasant, picture of parsonage parenthood.

And Gecko—"My Gecko"—Mr. Christian Morrow took a great deal of trouble, I feel sure, to keep in the background of the picture—or, should I say, to play with muted strings to Svengali's masterly concerto? He was always "My Gecko," the little slave of the Master, and did not force the part. Lastly, Madam Vinard, who never seemed to get her rent, as played by Miss May Hallatt, brought matter-of-factness into this picture of Bohemian life which was a foil to the underlying tenderness of Little Billee's, Taffy, and The Laird's lost love.

But above all, as upon a mountain top, are the hands, the eyes, the wizardry of Quartermaine's Svengali — "Ma Mignon" — in those two words we may read the redemption of the master mind.

It was well that Svengali died, but in his death, he held the house in thrall.

Of course, Mr. Waring should play Trilby for two more performances.

Many will wish to see it again.

Many will wish to see it who have not yet been able to do so.

His production is splendid and he deserves these packed houses, for he brings great gifts.

Chekiang Civil Governor To Quit

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 17.—It is learned that Mr. Shen Chin-chien, the Civil Governor of Chekiang, has tendered his resignation to the Government owing to his refusal to co-operate with the Tuchun General Lu Yung-hsiang in his scheme for provincial independence. Mr. Shen's resignation has not been accepted by the Government. This step on the part of Mr. Shen was not unexpected, as reports had reached Peking previously that he was strongly opposed to General Lu's action and would seize the first opportunity to leave Hangchow.

Hitch In Parleys Over Cotton Strike

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 18.—A hitch has occurred in the settlement of the Lancashire cotton trade dispute. It appears that a meeting of the operatives' delegates at Manchester ended in hubbub and confusion. The vote in favor of acceptance of the terms was challenged, and subsequently the negotiating committees of employers and employed who met to sign the agreement decided to adjourn till the 24th instant, to give some of the workers' organisations an opportunity of consulting their districts.

New Outrages Are Laid To Sinn Fein

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 18.—It is officially announced that the Queen will accompany the King to Belfast on Wednesday next for the state opening of the Ulster Parliament.

London, June 19.—A series of Sinn Fein outrages on railway signal-boxes occurred in the Manchester district last night, similar to those which took place in London a few nights ago. A signalman near Stockport was twice shot at and wounded. Altogether four signal-boxes were set on fire.

...CE DEALERS IN CITY WILL FIGHT LICENCE ORDER

Will Close Shops Rather Than Comply With Rule, They Say

Rice dealers conducting shops in the Settlement held a meeting yesterday afternoon at their guild in the Chinese City and voted to refuse to take out licenses on July first. If the Council insists on licensing the shops, they will be closed, the dealers decided. It was also voted to raise funds to secure legal assistance.

The Municipal regulation ordering the licensing of rice shops was first published on May 20. It will go into effect on July 1 and will provide that the licensee keep a correct written record of the stock of rice in his possession, that this record be open to police inspection and that the licensee comply with any regulations enforced by the Council against hoarding and profiteering in the cereal.

The announcement that the regulation was to be enforced was followed by several protests from dealers but the first definite serious action was taken yesterday.

Officials of the rice guild have stated to the Municipal Council that shortage in crops, hoarding and speculation in producing areas and increase in the cost of living in Shanghai have united in driving the price of rice to three dollars a picul above the price in normal years at this time.

CHAMBER'S LETTER

Correspondence on the subject is published in the Municipal Gazette this morning, part of which follows:

Translation of letter from the Chinese Chamber of Commerce to Yuan, Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, dated April 26 1921:

"The Municipal Council's report of the ratepayers' meeting published on the 15th instant contained a reference to the licensing of rice shops. It has not been possible to ascertain what is the precise purpose for which the Council proposes to introduce these licences, as the newspaper report is very meagre. If they are to be introduced for the purpose of controlling the hoarding of rice, then this Guild will certainly find it difficult to accept them.

"We maintain that the high price of rice is caused not by hoarding. Restrictions having been imposed on the storing of rice, the merchants do not dare to keep large stocks, while the boatowners, knowing that there are restrictions in Shanghai and that if they carry cargo to Shanghai they may not be able to dispose of the whole of it, look round for other markets, so that stocks grow ever smaller and the price of rice grows ever less likely to fall.

"This is only logical and shows clearly that restricting the keeping of stocks is not a sound measure.

AUGMENT SUPPLY

"In the opinion of this Chamber there is only one way to keep down the price of rice and that is to augment the sources of supply—certainly not to reduce the stocks.

"The Council's proposal for licensing is aimed at limiting stocks, and will have a serious effect on the market and the transaction of business."

HOARDING IS MENACE

The commissioner adds:

"Hoarding rice with a view to its subsequent smuggling out of the country or with the intention to force the price up is a menace to the people's food supply and ought without a doubt to be dealt with vigorously; but storing for local consumption and without any intention to smuggle it out of the country or to force the price up should not be excessively restricted, as that would cause inconvenience to trade.

"The merchants regard the Council's licensing proposals with suspicion, and this being so they ought for the present not to be put into execution.

"I have the honor therefore to request you to instruct the Municipal Council to look at both sides of the question and take suitable measures, having regard to both the wishes of the merchants and the maintenance of the people's food supply."

COUNCIL'S REPLY

Council Room,
Shanghai, June 16, 1921.

Sir.—The Council's careful investigations into this matter have so far tended to show that, the impression of the Chinese authorities, both locally and in the interior, that the high price of rice is due in any way to action by the rice merchants of Shanghai is not correct.

There is, it is true, at all times a large stock of rice in the Settlement, but it should be remembered that Shanghai does not of itself produce rice, the population is large in number, and it is necessary for the peace and well being of the Chinese residents of the Settlement, that not only should there be at all times sufficient rice for immediate consumption, but in order to provide for those months, during which rice is not produced, there must always be on hand a sufficient stock to form a reserve, even, if necessary, to provide for the possibility of a failure in the rice crop for one year.

CONTROL NECESSARY

Furthermore I have the honor to observe, that the stock of rice in Shanghai, whatever it be, cannot be the cause of a high price locally, because the greater the stock, obviously the lower the price.

At the same time, the Council recognises that, in accordance with the best modern procedure, it is requisite that it should control in an effective manner, the whole of the food supply of the Settlement. For many years it has so controlled the meat supply, and other forms of food, but hitherto in the case of rice effective control in such manner, as at any time to ascertain the quantity of supplies available, has been lacking.

It is of course within the Council's competence at any time should a state of emergency arise, to take such steps as may be necessary to safeguard the food of the people, but it is desired, by the timely adoption of licensing procedure, under which the exact conditions are known beforehand, and which will at any time afford full information as to the stocks on hand in the Settlement, to avoid in an effective manner all necessity for other and more drastic steps to cope with turbulance and popular disturbance.

The Council thus finds itself in entire agreement with the suggestion of the Chinese authorities that the rice situation should at all times be controlled, but not for the reasons stated by them, since the high price of rice is not brought about by any persons in the Settlement, or by export from the Settlement.

To this end therefore, as from July 1, the Council will proceed to licence all rice dealers in the Settlement, but in such manner as to cause no hardship whatever to them, since they are in no wise responsible for the present situation.

In this connection, I have the honor to include for your information a copy of the Report of the Commissioner of Police on the subject, made after very careful investigation of the circumstances.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. BROOKE SMITH.
Chairman.

Sir EVERARD FRASER, K.C.M.G.,
H. M. Consul General and Senior Consul.

NO EXCESSIVE STORING

Shanghai, June 16, 1921.

Regarding the communication from Chia Kuh Rice Guild in which the writers aver that it has not been possible to ascertain the precise purpose of the Council in introducing the licensing of rice shops, I may explain that the authorities in times of emergency would be able to obtain an approximately correct estimate of the quantity of rice available for the food supply of the settlement.

The proposal for licencing is in no way aimed at limiting stocks and it is difficult to see, as alleged, that it will have a serious effect on the market or that it will cause inconvenience to trade.

K. J. McEUEN,
Commissioner of Police.

E. S. B. ROWE, Esq.,
Acting Secretary,
Municipal Council.

New Sino-Mexican Treaty Probable

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 18.—It is believed that the deadlock in the negotiations for the revision of the Sino-Mexican Commercial Treaty will shortly be solved. The Government, it is reported, has cabled to Mr. Wang Chi-tseng, the Chinese Minister at Mexico City, who is in charge of the negotiations, to meet as far as possible the views of the Mexican Foreign Office. It will be remembered that the deadlock arose several weeks ago on the subject of the clause, providing guarantees to protect Chinese immigrants into Mexico.

POLICE DRIVERS GO TO TRIAL FOR OPIUM SMUGGLING

Two Municipal Chauffeurs Are Charged In Mixed Court

The two Municipal police chauffeurs implicated in the opium smuggling attempt which involved a police motor car early last Friday morning were charged in the Mixed Court yesterday, the men being remanded in custody for one week after Capt. E. I. M. Barrett had given testimony regarding one of the defendants.

The case came before Assessor Hutchison and Magistrate Li and Mr. J. B. Davies appeared for the second accused. Captain Barrett's evidence was with regard to the first accused. This man, the witness stated, had been employed by him until the afternoon preceding the smuggling attempt, when he was discharged. Captain Barrett said he next saw the accused at 8:45 a.m. next day when he gave himself up to witness at the latter's home, stating that he had a confession to make; he had got himself into trouble and wished his former employer to get him out of it. Captain Barrett, who had heard of the use of his car by the smugglers, took the man to Central police station and handed him over without having taken any statement from him. The accused, he said, had no right to take the car out. The car was kept in a garage under Central station.

Inspector Johnston, of Wayside station, stated that the second accused had been handed over by Chief Detective Inspector J. Burnside, for whom he had been driving. Inspector Burnside had not questioned the man, but arrested him on the request of the witness. Inspector Johnston said that the first accused had made a confession implicating the other chauffeur. Mr. Davies requested bail for his client but this the court refused.

A coolie found in possession of two balls of opium believed to have been a part of the lot which was being transported to the police car was also charged yesterday. The entire lot, the police believe, amounted to three or four bags, one of which was seized and brought to the station. The rest was taken away in the scramble about the car when a Chinese constable tried to arrest the men carrying the stuff. It is believed that a number of men knew of the landing of the drug and the police have located several of these men, but no others were found in possession.

The court remanded this case for trial at the same time as that of the previous one.

"TRANSITION GRADUAL"

Red Leaders Say Change From Capitalistic To Socialist Basis Is Succeeding

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, via Manchuli, June 14.—A resolution adopted by the 11th All-Russia Communist Conference, commends the new economic policy of the Soviet Government as capable of lasting for a long period of years, and instructs all concerned to aid in the realisation of this policy. It maintains that the exchange of commodities from the gist of the policy. Close relations between the proletariat and the peasantry and an endurable economic union between these two classes during the transitional period from capitalism to socialism are impossible without establishing a systematic commodity exchange between urban and rural population.

This kind of trading will tend to stimulate the peasantry.

In view of the importance of co-operation in community exchange, the conference endorsed the agreement entered by the Food Commissariat and the Central Co-operative union authorising the latter to be the sole trading organ for the government in commodity exchange.

The conference was of the opinion that co-operation must be encouraged and supported. Small and medium enterprises both private and co-operative, must be supported without interfering with free trade. The Government may lease state-owned enterprises to private persons, corporations, or co-operatives and local economic organs are authorised to enter into such agreements without consulting their superiors.

The resolution further encourages self-activity and initiation of every big industrial enterprise and favors the development of the system of partial payment in produce, recommends stricter penalities for waste and abuse of state-owned property, and finally urges the members and supporters throughout the country to back up and help realise all governmental measures along the above-described lines.

Warlords Draw Plans At Mukden

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 17.—According to advices from Mukden, a Military Council was held on June 13 in the yamen of the Inspecting Commissioner, which was attended by all the military leaders at present in Mukden.

It is stated that the following decisions were reached: the 20th Division, now stationed at Taonanfu, under the command of General Tsai Ping-pen, will be sent to the front and General Tsai will be appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Eastern Sector of the Front.

General Sun Lieh-chun, the Tuchun of Kirin, was suggested as Vice-Commissioner for the Mongolian frontier, but declined on the ground that the troops in Kirin were only sufficient for the defense of the province, which would be endangered if part of the force were sent to Mongolia. Owing to the shortage of funds for the expedition, it was decided that it was impossible to raise a transportation corps and that work would therefore have to be carried out by the troops in the second line. A medical corps has been organised and will be placed under the command of Colonel Huang Tso-cheng, Chief of the Field Medical Service.

General Lu Hung-tao has sent troops to Shensi to compel General Chen to retire.

Fine For Barbers If All 'Face' In China Had Whiskers

between the characters a few remarks not included in the script.

GREAT IN POLITICS

The process of saving face blossoms at its fullest in national politics. A historic instance concerns the time when the Empress-Dowager caught Yuan Shih-k'ai stealing forbidden doughnuts in the political pantry and published an edict giving him indefinite leave of absence on account of trouble with his leg. Yuan thanked the Empress-Dowager for her consideration; then stepped down from his position as military director of Chihli province to nurse his supposedly weak pedal. When the Revolution of 1911 broke, however, a frightened Imperial House hurriedly asked Yuan to assume his old duties. In a reply as polished as a Dutch door-knob, Yuan answered that he would be glad to do so, but unfortunately his leg trouble was not yet over.

Another instance is seen in Peking, where, in the most secluded preserves of the Forbidden City, the little boy Emperor keeps up a shadowy court with the pomp of the ancient Imperial House. Paid retainers bump their heads on the floor in his presence—at so much per bump—and listen with deep respect to edicts written on bright yellow paper, which they later file with the janitor to help tide over the coal shortage.

Officials who displeased the court in the days of the Empire received notice that they had been vested with the honor of the piece of white silk. This honor was what in legal parlance might be known as a suspended sentence, for it was the recipient's move to choose a convenient beam out of haunting range of the palace. Even those who failed to return the right kind of R.S.V.P. to this invitation and were therefore executed by the state met death wearing the full regalia of office. Before the fall of the sword, they bowed in the direction of the Imperial Palace and thanked the Emperor for his kind attention.

E'EN UNTO DEATH

The movement for face conservation makes direct blame as rare as the person who likes ripe olives. The servant who is suspected of tastes in jewelry too similar to the family's is always discharged for having lost the valuables through carelessnes.

Fear of losing face follows a Chinese more persistently than his shadow. If he dies in a Western country, his remains must be shipped back to China, otherwise his ghost will lose face by having to mingle with uppish foreign ghosts who are probably trying to introduce oriental exclusion laws into the spirits world. He who loses his life may find it on another but he who loses his face either here or hereafter has about as much chance of discovering it again as a person has of relocating a dollar bill which he dropped on Nanking Road.

SHANGHAI AND NAVY NINES HOPE TO PLAY POSTPONED GAME TODAY AT 5.15 P.M.

If Rain Continues Game Will Be Worked In On First Open Date In Schedule; Two Games Set For Tomorrow

The postponed game of baseball between Shanghai and the Navy which failed for Sunday because of rain, will be played this evening at 5:15 o'clock, provided the field and weather is dry, and, if rain prevails again the next open date will be used.

Sunday's program which provided for a doubleheader with the U.S.S. Chandler playing the 1st Sec., 13th Div., in the first game, and Shanghai opposing the 2nd Sec., 13th Div., in the second half, will have to find an open date in the baseball schedule as announced Saturday morning. No changes in the plan of pla will be made for these postponed games.

Shanghai managers yesterday, speaking for the Shanghai Baseball Club alone, said that the Shanghai-2nd Sec. game would be played on the first dry day. But nothing definite could be said as to the playing of the Chandler-1st Sec. game. It was felt better to leave the date of that game to the destroyer men.

The open dates in the schedule are today, Thursday and Friday. The Shanghai men will start their play on any of these days at 5:15 p.m., leaving the early afternoon for the Navy. It is believed that the Navy men will also work off their postponed game on the first dry day, beginning play at 3 p.m.

Tomorrow the schedule calls for a doubleheader. The first game will see the U.S.S. Huron nine crossing bats with the 1st Sec., 13th Div., at 3 o'clock, and Shanghai playing the U.S.S. Hovey at 5:15.

If play is possible this afternoon and Sunday's postponed games are played off and if tomorrow provides baseball weather, Shanghai fans by nightfall should have a close line on the teams in the Whangpoo league and might even be able to select the team that will stand out as the best of the lot.

The 1st and 2nd Section nines perhaps are arousing the most curiosity. No one ashore knows much of their merits, though it is generally understood that with several destroyers to select from each section has gotten together a strong team. The Chandler team is boosted as the strongest in the Asiatic fleet.

Shanghai we know of course. Cy Wilhoit has a big band of ball players, some of them as yet untried. He can always put a top notch nine in the field from the old timers and can substitute in most any department and still hold up his strength. With Merrill back in a S.B.C. uniform, Dennison in shape, and Terry and Arlt working off their soreness talent in the box is not as bad as it was a week or two ago by half. The local boys, it is believed, can hold their own.

The Huron nine showed to good advantage in its win over Shanghai on Saturday. The original aggregation, which has been playing here as a "fleet" nine was strong and smooth and when it was disbanded, many sterling baseball players were lost, but the flagship still can put a strong team in the field and they may be counted on to show well in the final averages.

Here's hoping for dry weather today, and a game or two of baseball.

DEMPSEY BEGINS 'INTENSIVE' WORK, BEATS UP THREE

Carpentier's Sparring Partners To Enliven His Camp This Week

(Reuter's Service)

New York, June 18.—Dempsey, still wearing special headgear to protect his injured eye has started intensive work. Today he boxed three heavyweight whom he sadly manhandled.

A batch of new sparring partners for Carpentier will arriv from France on Monday when the French champion is to begin his course of real fighting.

SAYS "BUGS" Baer:

ROUGHTOWN WAS PROUD OF GINK

He Was Born And Razzed There, And Never Left Except By Request

BY 'BUGS' BAER

Dear Liar:

By the fast moving shades of Philadelphia your Gink was not the champ of Roughtown. I was present at the atrocity inaugural in that little gray homicide in the west when Weeping Willo knocked him curly. Now, when Gink sees my man he pulls in his head like a turtle in a hail storm.

Say different,

R. E. MACKENZIE,

Hours: 9 to 5 in New York.

All other hours in Brooklyn.

Mr. Mackenzie is full of hardboiled egotism. If there ever was a busted seam, it was Weeping Willo. He rattled in Roughtown against the grain and was naturally kicked off by the first old soldier he met. He stopped in to play a game of checkers with the boys of '61 and they took him for his yard of thin dimes. There was one old soldier there who had hung up patriotic marathon records at Bull Run.

The A. A. U. wouldn't accept them, so they pulled off the second battle of Bull Run to verify the timing watches. Weeping got into an argument with this old boy, who could eat cinders and broken bottles if he had the right kind of mustard sauce on 'em. The oldtimer pawned all his crutches to buy boxing shoes and started into paw Weeping down.

THE FIRST CAROM FIGHT

Weeping was like a bear fighting bumble bees. The veteran was all over him like a striped awning. He had absolutely no respect for youth and hokum and spanked Weeping for a three-cushion carom, fist to floor to fist again. It was a great exhibition of Queensbury billiards. The old boy slapped him horizontal, and if he hadn't made the mistake of lacing his shoes with his whiskers Weeping would have been knocked for a minority report.

This was the last nude knuckle fight in Roughtown. It was so brutal that the battle films were only shown at the Roughtown Day Nursery and at meetings of the Campfire Girls.

After that Weeping stepped around very fragilely, avoiding all fight chatter and carefully boiling the Police Gazette before reading it. He wore a trench helmet to protect his lace curtain chin from the cherry blossoms that were falling softly in the Spring air of Roughtown, the most beautiful village in the world.

He never fought Gink Fowler, because Gink absolutely refused to meet him and proved it in the ring. Gink's seconds were a well-known perpetrator of a mysterious murder and an incognito Duke. The Duke had Cunarded to Roughtown to marry a Roughtown heiress, but got discouraged when he discovered that we used oyster shells for money. Weeping's seconds were Big Dick and Little Joe. Two great wrestlers who had been thrown more times than fits in Matteawan.

GINK PLAYED IT WELL

Gink played the ukulele very well during the first few rounds. Weeping was sparring in front of a mirror. Then the Roughtown champion flashed that strategy that had made his name a rough-household word in this country.

He suddenly leap-frogged out of the ring and rattled up the aisle. Everybody thought he was going home.

He was.

The referee waited the usual ten days before announcing the loser. As Weeping was the only man left in the ring to take the slap, he was declared the loser. Once again, science had swamped brute strength. Roughtown is proud of Fowler, for he was born and razzed there.

CALIFORNIANS DEFEAT CRACK JAPANESE TEAM

Collegians Win First Of Series With Osaka Diamonds

THE Osaka Diamond baseball team, which represented Japan in the Far Eastern Olympic and open international games here May 30 to June 4, was defeated at Osaka by a 1-0 score after thirteen innings of hard play against the University of California, which is touring Japan. The game was a nip and tuck affair with chances fairly even until the final frame, when a single, a fielder's choice, and a double drove over the lone run of the game.

The Diamond lineup in the California game was practically the same as played in Shanghai. Ono, the Japanese strong man, who pitched a doubleheader here against the Filipinos, and then on the final day twirled a one-hit game only to have the championship thrown away by wild pegging of his teammates, worked against the Native Sons. He had the better of the box work, but the Californian's hitting was not to be denied.

Mori, the stylish catcher for the Diamond team was brought from Shanghai especially for the match with the U. of C. team. Mori is a resident of this city.

Eels, the California right fielder who drove in the winning run in the thirteenth inning only got into the game in the twelfth, replacing Rowe.

It was a game after the real fan's heart. For 13 innings the Osaka team, and the Pacific Coast collegiate champions fought, O'Neil's spit ball and foxy brain being too much for the Japanese team and Ono's fast, high ball being almost as much of a jinx to the Californians. The Diamond team at times seemed almost bound to score, but O'Neil pitched best in the pinches, retiring the third man twice with the bases full and another time with second and third occupied. The Diamond Club battery is easily the best in Japan.

THIRTEENTH INNING

Suzuki reached first on an error. Ono flied out to Erb. Utsumi walked, advancing Suzuki. Sasaki flied out to G. Makin. O'Neil walked Wada, filling the bases, in order to get the third out easier. The game was almost within the Osaka team's grasp, but O'Neil as usual pitched out of the pinch, Tokashi doing his best but getting only a grounder to G. Makin at short, which is always a sure out.

O'Neil failed to reach first after a grounder to short. Meyers got a good single, and Erb reached first on a fielder's choice, Meyers being safe at second. G. Makin, California's heaviest hitter, failed

America Beats England In First Polo Game, 11-4

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 18.—Playing at Hurlingham today for the International Polo Cup, America defeated England by 11 goals to 4.

The King and Queen, Princess Mary, Queen Alexandra, the Prince of Wales and the King of Spain were present at the match. There was also a brilliant gathering of society.

America was represented by Milburn (back), Watson-Webb Hitchcock and Stoddard, and England by Lockett (back) Wodehouse, Barret and Tomkinson. The ground was in capital condition.

The game opened quietly The Americans attacked and scored twice in the first chukker The play was of a very fast order. Tomkinson then scored; he played strongly but his shooting was indifferent.

The teams scored goal for goal till the game stood at 5 goals to 4 in favor of the Americans The Englishmen, however, appeared to lose heart at the beginning of the sixth chukker when the score was 7 to 4.

Watson-Webb was the most brilliant player on the field. The Americans had better ponies and played a more understanding game. The Englishmen wasted several chances, particularly in the third and fourth chukkers by poor shooting.

AUSTRALIANS HELD TO 213 BY SURREY ELEVEN

18,000 Spectators See Contest Between Visitors And County Team

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 18.—The match between the Australians and Surrey at the Oval today was favored with sunny weather and a perfect and very fast wicket. The attendance numbered some 18,000 spectators.

The Australians won the toss and elected to bat. The early batsmen completely failed, making but 65 runs for five wickets. Then Gregory's lusty hitting sent the score up. Of the Australians' 213, Gregory made 101. He was very lucky, several chances which he gave were missed and he stood his ground for two hours and a quarter.

The fielding and bowling were good. Hitch taking five wickets for 74 runs.

Scoring slowly in face of the splendid fielding of the Australian eleven, Surrey had made 85 for five wickets when stumps were drawn for the day.

CHINESE EASTERN PRESIDENT SEES BRIGHT FUTURE

"No Reason For Loan From Japs," He Says—Financial Status

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 18.—Reuter's Agency has received the following statement from Mr. P. Petithugurnin, Director for the Far East of the Russo-Asiatic Bank, which also represents the views of the President of the Chinese Eastern Railway:

Numerous inaccurate reports and interviews have been circulated in the press regarding the Chinese Eastern Railway. The truth is that since the agreement was made between the Chinese Government and the Russo-Asiatic Bank in October last year, the conditions of the railway have considerably improved, and there is now every reason to believe that the financial difficulties of the railway will soon be overcome.

No loan has been concluded with Japanese or other groups, and there is no reason why one should be contracted. It is a fact that the railway owes to the Chinese Government Kuping Taels 5,000,000, which should have been paid at the date of the opening of the railway to traffic. For that amount, plus interest, the railway will give the Chinese Government five percent bonds, in accordance with the statutes of the railway. Furthermore if the railway needs funds bonds will be issued and placed on the public market. There is no question of issuing shares, which, according to the statutes of the railway, can only be owned by Russian or Chinese subjects.

The first sitting of the annual general meeting of shareholders was held on the 14th instant, and dealt with various matters of a formal nature. These annual general meetings are convened for the purpose of passing resolutions on the report and balance sheet presented by the Board of Directors and for the election of a new Board. Other matters may be submitted to the shareholders by the Board.

There is no likelihood of any change in the agreement of October, 1920, being proposed, for that agreement has worked satisfactorily, the new Russo-Chinese Board, with the new Engineer-in-Chief, having met the difficulties brought about by the war, the revolution and the unsettled conditions in Russia, with very encouraging success.

Popular Officers Of The Police Force Go On Long Leave

Two popular members of the police department, Sergeants J. J. Kilkenny and George Morgan, sailed for home on long leave Sunday, by the steamer Paul Lecat. A number of foreign friends escorted them to the ship and tendered them an informal farewell party aboard the vessel, while members of the Chinese staff gave them a rousing send off with crackers and bombs.

Previous to their departure the two popular sergeants were made a number of presentations by their comrades in the force. The uniform staff at Hongkew station presented Sergeant Morgan with a handsome leather steamer trunk, Chief Inspector MacGregor making the speech of presentation and voicing the esteem in which the departing officer is held. Sergeant Kilkenny was presented with a lavishly fitted-up travelling bag by the members of the C.I.D. at Central and with a suitably engraved gold wrist watch by the men of the uniform division, Inspector Eek and Inspector Vaughan presiding at the two ceremonies. He was also the recipient of presents of silk and two silver water pipes from the Chinese staff.

Boulon On Stand In Suit Of Dye Hong Against G.W.W.

Breach Of Contract For Indigo Shipments Alleged And Heavy Damage Claims Are Asked

Mr. F. G. Boulon, former manager of the Shanghai office of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, was on the stand through the afternoon yesterday in the United States Court for China as a witness in the case of the Say Yuen Hong versus Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, Far Eastern Division and Gaston, Williams and Wigmore of New York.

The suit involves claims for more than Tls. 200,000 based upon alleged violations of contracts for indigo shipments entered into by the Say Yuen Hong with the Shanghai office of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore. The testimony of Mr. Boulon, who is a material witness in the case, is being taken at this time by agreement as he shortly is to leave for America. Mr. H. D. Rodger is appearing for the Say Yuen Hong and Mr. Stirling Fessenden is representing the defendant companies.

REVIEW CONTRACTS

In the testimony that Mr. Boulon gave yesterday the various circumstances surrounding the making of the contracts for the indigo shipments were reviewed and with frequent objections from counsel testimony concerning the quality of the indigo shipped was given.

In its petition the Say Yuen Hong sets forth that the New York Company of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore has an agency agreement with the Dow Chemical Company of Midlands, Mich. for the sale of the chemical company's products in China and, as stated in testimony that Mr. Boulon gave yesterday, that indigo sales made in China by the Shanghai office of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore are handled through the New York Company.

The plaintiff sets forth that on May 17, 1920, it opened a credit of Gold 180,000 through the Netherlands Trading Company in favor of the New York Company of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore to cover purchases of indigo which were to be shipped.

By reason of having opened this credit the plaintiff alleged it was forced to meet two drafts; one for Gold $16,000 and one for Gold $13,825, covering three shipments of indigo which it alleges never were contracted for. The charges on these shipments, with interest, are said to total Tls. 79,266.94. The plaintiff recites further that it advertised the indigo in these shipments for sale and accepted for it Tls. 17,760, the best offer. The loss is given as Tls. 61,506.94 and constitutes one of the claims.

OTHER ALLEGATIONS

Under its agreement with Gaston, Williams and Wigmore the plaintiff asserts that contracts were made for nine monthly shipments of indigo and that after the arrival of the first eight of these examinations that were made revealed that the shipments were 8.15 percent short weight. It is represented that this short weight represented a loss of Tls. 23,543 and a further loss of Tls. 1,153 is alleged to have been caused by the short weight of a subsequent shipment of two tons.

As a third cause of action it is alleged that deliveries of shipments were delayed and were therefore not in accordance with contract. In this connection the plaintiff claims damages in the sum of Tls. 61,120.

The Say Yuen Hong contends that the contracts it made and the credit opened were based upon the quality of samples that had been submitted. It alleges that the quality of indigo sent in the shipments was not up to sample and by reason of this losses were incurred amounting to the sum of Tls. 148,717.77.

The hearing will be resumed before Judge C. S. Lobingier this morning.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

IS YOUR BABY HEALTHY?
Here Is a Test

Happiness is sign of health in babies: if they are fretful and restless it is a sure indication that something is wrong.

Usually the cause of a baby's sleeplessness, crying, irritability, is stomach or bowel troubles, or teething pains. Baby's Own Tablets quickly restore restful sleep and the joyfulness of health to babes by dispelling stomach troubles, feverishness, constipation, colic, or diarrhoea. They make teething easy, break up colds and expel worms.

Mrs Q. E. Long, of Peachland, British Columbia, writes:—"My baby, now thirteen months old, has always been healthy except for the fever and restlessness accompanying teething and an occasional cold, but Baby's Own Tablets have proved so beneficial in these cases that I would not be without them."

Baby's Own Tablese, the Canadian children's remedy, are obtainable from druggists, or post free at 60 cents the vial from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road. Shanghai.

Shanghai Teachers Organise Union

New Decision Made Regarding Increase O Carpenters' Wages

Payment To Be On Silver Basis After First Of Year

Employers of carpenters and masons and representatives of the workers met Sunday at the Tsing Wei school, in Frenchtown, to discuss terms regarding the requested wage increase, the meeting resulting in an amicable decision.

It was decided that a change of the basis of payment from that of the copper cent to silver money is to go into effect on the first of the first moon next year. This is three months earlier than the employers' previous offer.

The men were to return to work yesterday and reports from various parts of the city indicated that the majority of them had resumed their labors.

A wireless station has been installed at the entrance to the Tutung's yamen at Charhar, and direct communication is now maintained with the forces at Pangkiang.

N.Y.K. Steamer To Be Laid Up 18 Days

The N. Y. K. liner Yokohama Maru from London, which collided with the O. S. K's Indo Maru near Singapore in the Malacca Strait on June 8, sustained no other injury than slight damage to her bow and has been dry-docked in accordance with the surveyors' recommendation after investigation at Singapore last Wednesday. The repairs will take about eighteen days.

It is not known at present whether passengers for the Far East will be transferred to another steamer, but the N. Y. K. at Shanghai will announce as soon as possible information which may come to hand regarding the movements of this steamer.

As the N. Y. K. European liners are scheduled to run from Singapore to Shanghai via Hongkong in nine days, the Yokohama Maru, provided the work of repair goes smoothly, may be expected here the middle of next month.

The steamers collided eighty-two miles from Singapore shortly before midnight on June 7. The forecastle, bulkhead and windlass of the Indo Maru were badly damaged and the ship was in a dangerous position. The Yokohama Maru's forecastle was buckled up, the Indo Maru's anchor being fixed in. One member of the Indo Maru's crew is missing and is believed to have been killed. Eleven were injured, some seriously, and were brought to Singapore aboard the Yokohama Maru which was docked in the Empire Dock. A Harbor Board tug was dispatched to tow the Indo Maru, whose passengers and mails were transferred to the Yokohama Maru.

The Indo Maru was extricated from her difficulties by the Annam Maru, another O. S. K. boat from Rangoon. She was summoned by wireless and aided a tug to tow the Indo Maru to Singapore. One hold was flooded and the bow was sunk so low that the Indo Maru was towed stern first.

Paris Dadaists Gyrate, Jabber And Sell 'Art' Work

Long Haired Fanatics Orate Meaninglessly Before Canvases Bereft Of Merit Or Sense As Hair Combs Furnish Music

Paris, May 7.—Paris, like Berlin, is in the grip of the Dadaist craze. The wildest of Dada's nonsensical evolutions, however, were seen in the Avenue Kelber headquarters this week when the Dadaists decided to hold a varnishing day for their sculpture and paintings. Varnishing day in other salons no longer exists, but Dada merely interprets anew the old sensations, and therefore while the long haired fanatics, accompanied by guests, jabbered meaningless phrases before a painting that seemed to be a cross between a village pump and an Egyptian deity a whole can of expensive varnish was poured over the canvas and was left dripping throughout the exhibit.

The ceremonies opened with the chief Dada behind an opaque screen repeating a monotonous series of words without any connection, just as if he were reading from a dictionary and skipping pages. When this reached the boring limit the Dada committee broke the monotony by grouping itself around the so-called statuary and reciting Dadaistich through combs covered with paper.

Then the lights were extinguished and phosphorous painted spectres emerged from trapdoors and carried on what was purported to be an address of welcome with "high frequency," the frequency idea being found in the fact that every word lacked any connection with art of even the most extreme type.

The chief feature of this season's exhibition, however, proved to be a statue symbolising German militarism, which was represented by a huge wax candle half burned but crowned with paint splashed paper flowers and pierced with a bayonet of the seventeenth century. Around this fellow artists sang nursery rhymes and drank beer from house paint tins until daybreak.

Nothwithstanding the ridicule heaped by the press on what is termed this slur on France's artistic traditions, it is reported that the Dadaists sold nearly all of their exhibits profitably.

Paris Doubts If Love Dates To 12th Century

Sorbonne Professor's Contention Starts Controversy Among Critics

Paris, May 7.—The chief topic of discussion in high society in Paris for the last week has been "How old is love?" which was inspired by the declaration of Prof. Seignobos of the Sorbonne, that the divine passion first made its appearance at the beginning of the twelfth century. Before that date, according to the professor, civilisation as known today did not exist in any of its branches, therefore the casual records of fine relations between males and females must be interpreted by a code other than that extant today.

This dictum is causing French critics to comment caustically on the fact that love in the future may not be measured by occasional gifts of flowers or the proof of sentiment by giving up subway seats to the fair sex, but by relations of a more diplomatic type, based on the economic relations between men and women workers.

Archduke Hampered In Stage Aspirations

Police Won't Let Leopold Ferdinand Wear Admiral's Uniform

Berlin, May 7.—The former Archduke Leopold Ferdinand of Austria, who is appearing nightly as a performer in a Berlin cabaret, was prevented by the Berlin police from wearing an Admiral's uniform and is compelled to wear the clothing of a private soldier.

Like many other members of once powerful royal families who were unhorsed and bankrupted by the war he was forced to work for a living, his total income from his Austrian properties now amounting to only 3,000 kronen, or about $4, monthly.

So when he appeared for a job as carbaret entertainer a sketch was written so that he could play the part of a prince who had fallen from high estate.

The Berlin public, accustomed since the war to former royal personages in abject financial circumstances, still was not habituated to seeing an Archduke on the boards. The first night the audience heard the Archduke through without applause. Then, in the painful, embarrassed silence a man rose by his table and loudly clapped his hands. It was a former German Grand Duke, who also is working for his daily sustenance. From one table came a low hissing at this profanation of majesty.

Ancient Manuscripts To Be Sold In London

Collection Of Henry Yates Thompson On Art Gems To Be Offered

London, May 7.—Some of the gleanings of the harvest gathered throughout years of search and travel by Henry Yates Thompson in quest of gems of ancient art and literature will be offered to the public next month, when the sale of fifteen unique old manuscripts will be held. Buyers from all over the world are expected to attend and it is anticipated that record prices will be paid for these precious works.

Histories are entwined around some of the manuscripts of highly charged romance. There is a picture of the battle of Cannae from a manuscript five hundred years old and attributed to the famous Jean Foucquet of Tours, and in a vain search for the remainder of the volume, of which the picture was the frontispiece, Mr. Thompson sought all over the world. At one time he had copies of the frontispiece made and distributed among the principal libraries in America and in England, but without finding the manuscript.

In attempting to trace the origin of certain volumes Mr. Thompson has taken up the life tasks of such men as Ruskin, and in the case of "Antiphonoe, Cistercian Abbey, Beaupre," once Ruskin's property, Mr. Thompson successfully solved the riddle. Results of Mr. Thompson's researches realised £130,325 in previous sales.

Tourists In Paris, Out Late, Get No Smokes

Paris, May 7.—When the American tourist "hits" Paris night life this summer and tries to buy a package of American cigarettes or a Havana cigar he will be met by a cold stare and a flat refusal, even if the customer appears not likely to complain if the price is twenty times more than it should be, which is now frequently where gaiety is abundant but costly.

An edict has gone out from the syndicate of cafe and restaurant owners that such places shall no longer sell tobacco, as the Government has refused to permit the restaurants and cafes to charge 25 percent more than the corner tobacco shops. They have been exceeding this profit for many months—no one knows just why—and in an unguarded moment, they sought to legalise what represented a steady income as long as unsuspecting Americans and Britons overlooked the increased price.

ABSINTHE MAKERS SUFFER A BLOW

French Government Will Not Reimburse Them For Loss Of Their Stills

Paris, May 7.—French absinthe distillers, whose means of existence was ruthlessly destroyed by wartime prohibition measures that put this fascinating but demoralising drink on the taboo list forever, received another blow this week when the courts here decided that the Government was not obliged to reimburse them for the loss of their stills and bottling plants.

Only two distillers, Edward Premier and Charles Henry, filed claims for damages after the passage of the anti-absinthe act in 1915. Although they asserted they had the same right to compensation as had the growers of wormwood, the courts followed the precedent in the cases of tobacco and match manufacturers when the State took over those monopolies, granting neither manufacturer one centime in damages, although their losses amounted to many million francs.

In the case of the absinthe makers, their stills are said to be a total loss, as they cannot be used in connection with any other chemical processes, while the absinthe substitutes—new ones appearing every week at the Paris bars—can be concocted without the elaborate apparatus required to make real absinthe.

Incidentally, this may explain the fact that the substitutes, which contain too much paregoric for the American taste, are rapidly supplanting beer as the thirsty Parisian's favorite tipple, and in most cafes here they can be obtained cheaper than the foaming bock or amber.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth
In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.
Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.
The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filing with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Karan Rubber Estate Meeting

Resolutions were passed at the annual meeting of the Karan Rubber Estate Company, Ltd., yesterday, confirming the appointment of Mr. C. R. Burkill, and re-appointing Mr. Chun Bing-him, as directors, adopting the report and accounts and re-appointing Messrs. G. H. and N. Thomson as auditors.

The number of shares represented at the meeting was 2,875. Mr. C. R. Burkill presided and was supported by Messrs. E. E. Parsons and Chun Bing-him, directors and other shareholders.

The secretary having read the notice of the meeting, the chairman said:

"The report and accounts having been in your hands for some time, I will follow the usual course and take them as read.

"The result of the year's working shows a profit of Tls. 14,438.40, this however is entirely due to exchange adjustments and interest earned, the rubber production showing a small loss for the year. The output was some 30,000 lbs. less than that for the previous year and the overhead charges on this reduced crop, and enhanced costs of Estate supplies generally, have resulted in an increase of 2½d. in the cost of production. When the heavy drop in the price for rubber took place, the Directors decided to hold back sales in the hope of better prices and at the end of the financial year the stocks amounted to more than half of the annual output, and these stocks were taken into account at a very low figure.

"The reduction in the annual crop is due to the support given to the restriction of output scheme advocated by the Planting Associations, and was effected by resting a portion of the Estate. The restriction scheme has unfortunately not so far attained the results hoped for but the resting has been of undoubted benefit to the Estate. On the recommendation of the visiting agent and local agents, the Directors have decided to adopt alternate day tapping over the whole estate, the experience recently gained in regard to this goes to show that nearly as much output can eventually be obtained with a very much smaller bark consumption, and on the older planted areas bark conservation is becoming urgently necessary if the future of the trees is to be considered.

"The working of the estate during the year under review has continued quite satisfactorily and the visiting agent's reports have been uniformly encouraging. The directors take this opportunity of expressing their appreciation of the good work done by Mr. Hutchison, the manager and by Mr. Allingham who acted during the former gentleman's absence on leave.

"As regards the future, prospects are certainly not very bright, and it would appear that it will be some considerable time before prices advance to a reasonably remunerative figure. In the meantime every economy is being exercised and the Company is in the fortunate position of having liquid assets amounting to some Tls. 48,000 which would be sufficient to provide for the upkeep of the estate for several years.

"If any shareholders have any questions to ask, I shall be pleased to answer to the best of my ability."

Exchange Quotations

Asia Banking Corporation

June 20, 1921

Spot and forward bar silver were up 3/8d. in London on Saturday.

The New York price advanced to 59 cents and the London-New York cross rate to 379¾.

The official rates here today were unchanged from Saturday with the exception of the Franc rate which was raised to 785 and the Rupee rate dropped to 264½.

The market, particularly in the morning was very firm, business in Sterling being done as high as 3/7¼ for near delivery and 3/7 for forward and in Gold Dollars at 67¾ for near and forward deliveries.

In the afternoon rates eased off slightly when a fair amount of business was done in Sterling at 3/6⅝ and in Gold Dollars between 67¼ and 67½. At this level the market closed steady.

India and China are reported to have bought silver in London on Saturday and it is quite probable that China at least will continue buying.

For the time being at least the undertone of the silver market seems to be quite steady.

Waste Of Time, Money And Effort

THE present agitation in regard to the proposed alterations to the Bund Gardens is a feature which emphasises the wisdom of a suggested change of the Council procedure, which appeared in this column on May 4.

Readers may remember that the case for an earlier publication of the complete report was argued in a short leader on that date, and it was suggested that the report should be published three weeks before the annual meeting, so that ratepayers could peruse it thoroughly, and not be forced to sanction various schemes owing to the actual impossibility of scrutinising the report in the time allowed at present.

Now the difficulties likely to arise from this hustling through of measures affecting the public, are beginning to appear. The scheme for altering the Bund Gardens appears to have occupied the Public Works Department some considerable time before the annual meeting; moreover it is a radical alteration involving the loss of trees, which are old friends of many residents, and an alteration which obviously was not likely to be palatable to ratepayers, when once they realised its dimensions.

Yet this scheme was crowded into an important Budget, with a number of other items and the ratepayers hardly had time to study it, their alteration being centered on other points involving a larger outlay. To quote from the letter of one ratepayer on the subject:

Yes we did sanction it at the annual Ratepayers' Meeting. I personally gave mine because my mind was so full of criticism of not this one item only but many others that challenged my judgment that if I had begun to express myself the meeting might not have been concluded that day or possibly the next. I presume the rest of the Ratepayers felt much about the same. It was utterly impossible to criticize a budget of so many millions with so little information as was available and in the few brief hours at our disposal, and so we gave the Council the benefit of the doubt and passed it in bulk, reserving to ourselves a watching brief over its operation during the remainder of the year and till the next annual meeting, in which respect we are speaking now. Can you suggest any other practical course that had been open to us under the circumstances?

Exactly. "So little information available" and "so few hours at their disposal" either to consider or discuss it, and so we find ourselves involved in a public discussion which might have been quite easily avoided, had the ratepayers been given time in which to digest the information supplied and to understand what the Council proposed to do.

The righteous soul of Mr. Bruce Lockhart is stirred by the proposed arboreal sacrilege, and he bursts into a somewhat intense correspondence, which is focused on the head of Mr. C. H. Godfrey, commissioner of Public Works whose duty it is to carry out the orders of the Council. The Acting-Secretary of the Council points out that the vials of Mr. Lockhart's wrath have been misdirected, and the latter gentleman makes ample apology to Mr. Godfrey.

The proposed scheme in the meanwhile is held up while the Civic League prepares a petition to convince the Council that though the scheme may have slipped unnoticed through the annual meeting, now that it is understood, it arouses the hostility of a considerable number of ratepayers.

The civic attention of Shanghai is for the moment focused upon the discussion in question but it would be a thousand pities if the public failed to observe that the possibility of such a discussion is symptomatic of the disease from which the executive is suffering i.e. the inability to realise that intelligent men and women like to have time given them to consider schemes proposed for their benefit, before they are called upon to sanction them.

Another view is set forth in the following letter from a reader:

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: I notice in your issue of Saturday that the work of destroying part of the Garden has been stopped in order to ascertain exactly the public sentiment regarding the project. In the meantime public funds have been spent and an eyesore created. This is the result of secret Government.

How much better would it have been, when this alleged improvement was broached, to have tested public sentiment before starting the work, for the entire city is interested, and a large section of the city vitally affected. Had this been done they would not have made a mess of things and public funds, so badly needed, would not have been uselessly expended.

The gentlemen who compose the Council are from our best and most progressive citizenship and are men of recognised ability, but all of the knowledge in the world is not centered in them.

Yours truly,
P.A.

OUR WEATHER AND OTHER THINGS

Though the weather's so mild,
and the rain makes me wild,
And we're looking in vain for the Sun,
Every soul that you meet, in the house or the street,
Has a cold that he somehow has won.
It's a dangerous time, say the doctors, and I'm Pretty certain the sunshine's a snare;
There's some lurking bacillus, just longing to kill us,
And germs simply swarm in the air.

But if we feel limply, a cure is just simply
To read of the doings of those,
Who are training with might, to put up a fight,
To hit—and to push in a nose.
Carpentier's smile, and Dempsey's fierce dial
Seem to show them to be in the pink—
They have Bugs Bear beat from the head to the feet
In his champion, a fellow named Gink.

AND THAT REMINDS ME

Capablanca and Lasker, after talking for years
Have finished their championship match, it appears;
So Carpentier and Dempsey, who also talked tall
Are going to meet in July after all.

* * *

And though for a round or so both will feel sore,
They'll each have enough not to fight any more,
But say folk, maskee the amount of the sum
If either hit me it would be—Kingdom Come.

PRESIDENTS AT PLAY

It is said that President Harding is the best golfer who ever lived in the White House; though he only took up the game three years ago, he can get round the Chevy Chase Course at Washington in 95, bogey being 71.

Mr. Wilson though at one time a very good walker, was never keen on games with the one exception of tennis. He played a sound game of lawn tennis. He is a good mechanic, and has on occasion shown that he could drive a locomotive.

The late Mr. Roosevelt was by far the most athletic man who ever sat in the president's chair of the U.S.A. Some of his feats were extraordinary. So lately as 1909 he rode 98 miles in 17 hours over slushy Virginian roads. He never stopped anywhere for more than ten minutes except once, at midday, for lunch, and to rest his horse. He was a good boxer and a fine fencer. Some eighteen years ago he received a bad wound over the eye in a fencing bout. The button of his opponent's foil broke off.

"Big Bill" Taft, who was one of the heaviest of U.S.A. presidents took up boxing in order to get his weight down, and was successful in reducing himself from a little over twenty stone to about eighteen and a half.

Fishing is a sport which many presidents have enjoyed, among them Benjamin Harrison and Mr. Cleveland. The latter was a really keen angler, and used to visit Florida in winter in order to enjoy the delights of capturing the great "Silver King," as the tarpon is generally called.

SERVED HIM RIGHT

It was at the end of the third race, and the bookmakers had been doing badly. Having paid out practically all they had, one bookie found himself confronted by a hefty looking individual, who presented a demand for payment of 5 to 1 in tenners, and just behind this individual was another punter, a meek and mild little man, to whom the bookie's liabilities amounted to more than twenty pounds.

Realising the hopelessness of the situation, the bookie jumped and rushed at the bigger fellow.

"Sixty quid do you want, do you?" he roared. "I'll see you hanged first!" And with that he hit the claimant in the eye which stretched him out.

"An' now wat do you want?" he yelled, turning to the meek man.

"I—I," spluttered the little chap, as he slipped his ticket back into his pocket. "I—I only came up to say that I thought it served that other chap jolly well right!"

THE CURSE OF SCOTLAND

Why is the nine of diamonds called the "Curse of Scotland?"

Probably the most satisfactory explanation is that connected with the massacre of Glencoe. The order for this slaughter was signed by John Dalrymple, Earl of Stair, the man who was instrumental in bringing about the union between England and Scotland.

The coat of arms of the Dalrymples bore nine lozenges or diamonds on the shield, and it was because of this, according to many students of heraldry, that the expression arose. It is certain that the phrase goes back to 1745, because on October 21 of that year a caricature appeared showing the young Chevalier attempting to lead a herd of bulls across the river Tweed, with the nine of diamonds lying before them.

Another ingenious explanation is connected with the theft of Queen Mary's crown, which contained nine diamonds. To replace these a heavy tax, referred to as "the curse of the nine diamonds," was levied upon the Scots.

Industrial Development Only Solution Of Famine Problem

By Charles A. Leonard

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: The article recently published in THE CHINA PRESS by Prof. Joseph Bailie regarding the importance of encouraging development of industries in the famine area was read with the greatest interest. I have spent sometime in the section described by Prof. Bailie, and have from the time the field was first reached realised the futility of simply distributing food and money without helping the people get on their feet in some way by which in the future they might better provide for themselves.

The thing that impressed me most on my three trips to the famine field in Shantung and Chili lying between the Tsinan-Tientsin railway line and the sea was not so much the extreme destitution of the people, but their absolute helplessness in the matter of finding anything to do. When going from village to village to inspect homes hundreds of thousands of people could be seen sitting around their homes or on the streets with nothing in the world to do but starve to death. Others were out begging, but they got little, for their neighbors were in much the same fix as themselves. One was prone to lose patience with their idleness, but upon investigation there came the realisation that they did not know how to do anything that would bring them food or money. They are most of them far from the railroad ignorant of the outside world, have no schools except a few, and know only how to farm; yet their native intelligence is up to the average of the general run of Chinese in the country districts. During these recent years even the masons, carpenters and blacksmiths have had nothing to do, for their neighbors were too poor to use them.

We westerners think of time as money; then think of the thousands lost by millions of people thus spending most of their time in idleness even when crops are good! During recent years there have been floods, locusts and drought which have hindered growing of crops and consequent idleness practically the whole year round. As Prof. Bailie says, there is famine there all the time; this year it simply happens to be worse than usual. But it is really famine. I confess that conditions were not found to be as bad as I had expected; there were other localities worse than those in which I worked. But those I visited were bad enough. The people were eating cakes made of meal from grinding millet and kaoliang chaff and corn cobs. In some cases they had not even enough grain meal to hold the chaff meal together and we found them using dirt to make it into cakes.

Bark of trees was used for food. Sweet potato vines and leaves were considered a delicacy but the odor from these when cooking was enough to make a westerner sick. In many cases the houses were torn down that the rafters and straw supporting the flat dirt roofs might be used for fuel to cook the little food obtained. It made one's heart ache to see his fellow beings having to eat such stuff as those poor people were forced to eat. Of course this is ancient history to some, but it was famine, and with a poor wheat crop conditions remain almost as bad as before, except for the aid being given.

A foreigner with whom we talked on the train seemed disappointed, or at least surprised, not to find people actually starving to death along the railroad track. We knew of people who starved within five miles of the railroad, but should there not be rejoicing and commendation that the situation was taken in hand early enough and the work of relief so well organised that such conditions as existed during former famines were prevented? But for the ready response in funds and workers in China and abroad there is no doubt in my mind but that many millions would have starved to death.

Many Chinese, and apparently some foreigners, seem to think that the Chinese must necessarily remain poor because their country is thickly populated. They seem to lose sight of the fact that the situation can be met by building up industries. England, Japan and Belgium, for instance, do not produce enough grain to sustain their populations, but a large number give their time to production of articles which are exchanged abroad for food and other necessities.

THE RIGHTS OF MUNICIPAL EMPLOYEES

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir.—May I employ your valuable columns to solicit information on a subject the explanation of which I have been unable to obtain elsewhere?

I believe that at the recent ratepayers' meeting a resolution was passed making it permissible for all municipal employees to engage any physician to attend themselves and their families, thus abolishing the unsatisfactory system whereby employees were compelled to submit themselves to the treatment of physicians chosen by the Council without any consideration for the wishes of the employees.

In spite of this I know personally a municipal employee who, after the passage of this resolution, engaged an "outside" physician and submitted the account to the Council for payment. It was returned to him with the information that he must settle the account himself as the new regulation will not become effective till the end of 1921 on account of old contracts with municipal physicians which hold good till then. This case I know personally but I have heard of several others in the same position.

In addition to this I have heard that the Council issued a private and confidential circular to all or some of its employees asking or advising them not to engage "outside" physicians.

I should be very glad if someone of authority in the Council would be kind enough to inform the public through these columns exactly how this matter stands, and would be particularly glad to have lucid explanations of the following points.

1.—If the Council is acting in good faith toward the ratepayers and its employees, and is within its rights in thus delaying the application of a regulation duly passed by the ratepayers, why was it necessary to circularise its employees with this peculiar confidential request to practically boycott "outside" physicians?

2.—If the Council is not acting within its rights and in good faith, what redress have the ratepayers and municipal employees, and what is the use of passing resolutions?

3.—If standing contracts prevent the immediate application of this new regulation, why was this point not brought to the notice of the ratepayers at the meeting?

4.—To put it plainly, is or is not this action a deliberate attempt on the part of the Council to ride roughshod over the instructions of the ratepayers and the rights of municipal employees?

Yours truly,
(Sgd.) PUZZLED.

Reuter Replies To Dalta Agency's Charges

Shanghai, June 20, 1921.

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—In your issue of Saturday you publish some animadversions from the Bolshevik Dalta News Agency on Reuter despatches from Eastern Siberia. Two instances are quoted in support of an assertion throwing doubt on the accuracy of some of these despatches. The Dalta Agency says:

Attention is called to a despatch from Peking today denying Reuter's statement that "Habarovsk was in flames" and so forth. Attention is also called to the fact that Reuter's today denies as a rumor the fact that Habarovsk was in flames. But it will be remembered that this bit of misinformation was not published as a rumor, but as news.

As it happens, it was published as a rumor and not as news. Here are the actual words of our original message of June 11, as issued to newspapers:

A unconfirmed rumor later states that the town (Habarovsk) is in flames.

So much for the first instance. Here is the second. Says the Dalta Agency:

At times, however, their premises miss fire, as for instance a despatch published by them today saying that "according to advices from Nikolsk - Ussurissk persons arriving from Soviet Russia state peasants uprising are general there." ..... How does the Reuter service obtain this sort of news? As the nearest point from which these people could have arrived from Soviet Russia would have meant a journey of ten days, ...

But the Reuter report (Vladivostock, June 16) did not speak of persons arriving from Soviet Russia, but from Soviet Siberia.

So that the instances quoted to cast doubt on Reuter reports of events in Eastern Siberia are found to be based on two premises one of which relies on a palpable misstatement and the other upon a misquotation.

Yours faithfully,
W. TURNER,
General Manager in the Far East.

Concerning Jade

Jade is a name commonly applied to certain ornamental stones, mostly of a green colour, belonging to at least two distinct species, one termed nephrite and the other jadeite.

Jade, in its wide and popular sense, has always been highly prized by the Chinese, who not only believe in its medicinal value but regard it as a symbol of virtue.

Jade, according to Professor H. A. Giles, occupies in China the highest place as a jewel, and is revered as "the quintessence of heaven and earth."

"Green Jade" is the name by which we designate a High Grade brand of Cigarettes made of specially selected Virginia leaf.

Industrial Development Only Solution Of Famine Problem

Under no circumstances can that part of China which constitutes the present famine field be able to produce enough crops alone to afford sufficient food and decent living conditions for its population. Digging of wells in some places for irrigation will help, but in much of the field there is so much alkali that the water from wells kills the crops. The land is usually underlaid with sand and wells would have to be walled. Brick for this which cost much as fuel would have to be brought in from considerable distance and at great expense. Irrigation from the Yellow River is worth considering, but sandy country and uncertainty as to floods from the river must be considered. These preventive measures will help meet the situation, but we believe the introduction of industries will come nearer solving the problem as a whole. These industries must enable a good percent of the people to use their time for producing largely goods which can be sold in foreign countries, or those for which China is now in foreign lands spending her money.

As the eastern end of Shantung is off the beaten line of travel, few people see our part of the province, except when touching at Chefoo. Those who have visited the Laichowfu section, after having seen the poverty of those in the western part of Shantung, cannot but be impressed with the great contrast in living conditions. On coming home recently from the famine field one of my Chinese assistants exclaimed: "This is heaven compared with what we have seen!" The Chinese here live in much better houses, wear better clothes, eat better food, have their schools, and in every way are far better off than in the country districts of the western part of Shantung and Southern Chili. Crops fail less frequently, it is true; but this is not the main reason. If the people depended entirely on crops they would also be much poorer. As it is, our people plait straw braid and make hair nets when there is nothing else to do, and a large number give their full time to these industries. From straw braid millions of dollars come in from England, America and other countries. I understand that $6,000,000 worth of hair nets were shipped from Chefoo last year to America alone. This industry is, however, just in its beginning. As yet the straw braid industry far surpasses it, but both are growing. As the best grades of braid and nets can be produced only by hand, and with millions of Chinese idle a good part of the year, the West will continue to look to us for these things. There was a slump in the straw braid market a few months past, but the price is now coming up again.

Men, women and children in this part of the Province plait enough braid to feed themselves without depending on crops. We are as thickly populated as are those areas in the famine field. The land is insufficient to feed all even when crops are best, but there is plenty of money and the people are doing well in spite of high prices. One great advantage of straw plaiting is that it is not a sweat-shop industry. In the summer months women and children can be seen in great numbers sitting in the shade of the trees or on their door steps plaiting. Children when only six or seven years old can more than support themselves, and plait the best grades. Old women whose eyesight has failed continue to plait. In the winter time the women and children sit up on the brick kangs (beds), which have been warmed from cooking of food, and are comfortable. The men and boys go down in cellars built in the threshing floors and covered with straw. These underground rooms are warm and here hundreds plait braid. When the market price is good they plait far into the night, using small lamps, thus earning extra money which is used for improving their homes, sending their children to school, or put aside the money for a rainy day. Living expenses have increased and grain is unusually high on account of the large quantities that used to come here from Manchuria now being sent to the famine field, but there is much less poverty than in former years. When the writer came to Laichowfu ten years ago beggars were numerous, but the number has gradually dropped off until we sometimes see less than a dozen in a month's time, and these have drifted in from elsewhere.

Why is this? It is simply because the people have a means of making money with which can be bought the necessities of life. If the straw braid industry were introduced into the famine field could not conditions there likewise be improved? When the crops failed the people would still have a means of supporting themselves. I found some places in the famine field where straw braid is being plaited, but not the best grades, and the industry is not sufficiently developed to encourage buyers to go there. With enough money from surplus famine funds to introduce this industry and carry it forward until it got on its feet something would be done of greater blessing than temporary famine relief. The people can easily be taught to preserve their wheat straw in such a way that it can be used for the best grades of braid. They can save enough from one year to the other, as do the Chinese here, to make sure of straw, or it could be shipped from here overland or by boat.

On coming home from the famine field I brought with me eighteen destitute children to educate and give each a trade. Nowhere in China have I seen children so quick to learn or more willing to work. They have all learnt to plait straw braid.

Another advantage of the straw braid industry is that it does not require any capital of the part of the producer, and the buyers simply go from village to village and buy it up. It is then sorted and sold to the exporters. Making of paper and other such industries requires capital and those engaged in such industry would necessarily be limited on account of the scarcity of wood or straw, but this industry should be encouraged. Making of hair nets also requires little or no capital. The buyer advances some hair or sells it to the producer, and then when the buyer collects nets he gives additional hair and money in exchange for the nets. These may be made at home or in establishments opened for the purpose.

Recently when in Kaomi (on the Tsingtau-Tsinan Railway) I saw early in the morning scores of women and children on their way to one of the Catholic industrial schools there. I was told they were being taught to make hair nets. These women and children were well dressed and apparently well fed. But Kaomi may be considered one of the prosperous parts of Shantung. Why should we not with surplus famine funds open such schools in the famine field where living conditions are so bad, where the people are too poor to have schools and are constantly on the verge of starvation? At the beginning of the famine I urged that this be taken up but was told that the hair net industry was only a temporary thing. Yet did you not read this item from Chefoo in a recent issue of THE CHINA PRESS:

"There is a big business done in hair nets. Prices of food are increasing and the wages paid to hair net workers are excellent. It is amazing what large numbers of women and girls are employed in this industry, and to see them going to and from their various places of employment is quite a sight."

Why these encouraging conditions in this part of the Province whereas thousands are on the verge of starvation in other parts? This condition is not dependent on crops, let me reiterate. These people who are making straw braid and hair nets are not farming. They are using their hands for something else that brings them a good living. Those who introduced into this part of China making of lace, plaiting of straw braid and making of hair nets were benefactors indeed! Cannot these and other industries be introduced into the famine field and those poor people there also be enabled to have work and provide for themselves?

My plan would be to stretch across the famine field east of the railroad—I am personally familiar only with that part—several lines of industrial schools in which the plaiting of straw braid, making of straw hats, and making of hair nets would be taught. We would in these schools also teach them to read and write the new national phonetic. We would, of course, have at first to provide a market for the braid and nets produced, but later buyers would gladly come in and purchase. I have among my Chinese friends here men and women who understand these industries from the bottom up and who could be employed under foreign supervision to see the proposition through. I believe with all my heart that we would thus do for those people much more than can be done by direct distribution of food and money. But such things require money.

Back in March when doing famine work in Yucheng county I presented this proposition to the International Auxiliary of the Shantung Famine Relief Society in Tsinan, but they replied that on account of the pressure of fund they did not feel justified in making allocation for this type of work. I do not know whether there is now a surplus of famine funds anywhere, but later when intrusted with the delivery of $43,000 from Tsinan for Haifeng county alone for general distribution, though grateful that it was possible to provide in this way for hungry people, I could not but feel that it would be better to set aside at least a fourth of that amount for teaching the hundreds of thousands passed on that journey some industry which would take them out of their idleness and make it possible for them hereafter to provide for themselves.

The Christian Herald sent me $1,000 to help needy Christian families that might not otherwise be provided for. I realised later, however, that these Christians could be better helped as indicated above and have held this $1,000 for such work, hoping that other funds could be had to use with this for industrial work. But the Christian Herald Committee wrote that their funds had been merged into the general famine funds of the Peking Committee and that they could not then help me out further, though glad for the $1,000 to be used in this way. May I not in this way, as one who has worked among them, put in my plea on behalf of the millions in the famine field, that from surplus funds, or the sale of grain sent from America, there be set aside a sufficient sum for the use of Prof. Baillie or others to introduce industries as preventative measures in the famine areas?

Thanking you for space in your valuable paper, I remain, Very sincerely yours,

TEXACO
TEXACO CRATER COMPOUND
The Great Gear Lubricant

Texaco Crater Compound is a special lubricant for heavy gears and wire rope. It preserves gears; shields them from dust and dirt, prevents friction, and eliminates machinery noise. Use "Crater" on all heavy gears working under conditions of extreme pressure. It clings to gear teeth when nothing else will, but is fluid enough to allow free lubrication.

As a preservative for wire rope and chains, Texaco Crater Compound is invaluable. It forms a film of lubricant which protects from the action of weather, chemical fumes and contaminated water.

Wire rope and chains coated with "Crater" will last twice as long.

Gears lubricated with it will work noiselessly and more efficiently.

University Of Nanking News Notes

Under the auspices of the students in the College of Forestry and Agriculture, a farewell reception in honor of Professors W. Y. Chum and S. S. Chien was held last Saturday. Mr. Chum, a Harvard man, will sail to the States soon to lecture to the colleges in America on dendrology and the conditions in China. Mr. Chien, the first botanist in promoting plant-collection in China, and who specialised on plant physiology in Illinois, Chicago, and Harvard, will teach at the Government Teachers' College at Nanking next term.

On his fiftieth birthday, Dr. J. E. Williams, the Vice-president of the University was presented with a silver shield on which a Chinese character "Shee" meaning "longevity" was engraved. The presentation was participated in by the students in the College and Middle School.

The University Christian Association had its election last week. Messrs. Yui Yu-ren, Wei-Hsioh-ren, Fan Ting-chiu, and Lan Sih-chi were elected as president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively for the calendar year.

The second issue of the University Christian Association hand-book is now in press and will appear soon. Mr. Chen Kwei-chi and Prof. C. Wade-Jones are the editors.

The Junior College graduates were entertained by President and Mrs. A. J. Bowen last Thursday evening.

The faculty and graduates of the Ginling College entertained the Senior College graduates at tea last Thursday afternoon.

Dr. C. T. Wang delivered the Commencement address Monday morning. The Baccalaureate sermon was preached by Mr. S. T. Wen Pei-shan, commissioner of Foreign Affairs at Nanking, Sunday morning.

Entrance examinations for the collegiate department will be held on July first at Shanghai, Canton, Amoy, Hankow, Tsinanfu, Tientsin, Kinkiang, Nanhsuchow, Changsha, Taiyuanfu, and Nanking.

A new department to be called the School of Business Administration will be started next fall. The establishment of the new school is the outcome of the loyalty and interest of the alumni, who subscribed more than $50,000 through a campaign launched three years ago. The Boston University Nanking Association is also helping to finance the new school by sending Professor C. E. Akerstrom, who arrived here last year. The new school will cover a course of four years: two in the Middle School and two in the Junior College. The course in the Senior College will be established in Shanghai later.

The University Alumni Association had a very important meeting yesterday. Each branch association in Nanking, Hsiakwan, Hankow, Wuhu, and Chinkiang was expected to send three representatives.

Important business transacted were: (1) to discuss the new school of business Administration; (2) to elect a board of manager to the Alma Mater in conjunction with Mr. Hwang Yung-liang '96, minister to Austria; (3) to discuss alumni insurance; (4) to revise the old constitution of the association.

The first issue of yearly publication called "The Linguist" has just been issued by the students of the Language School.

Rev. C. S. Keen, dean of the Department of the Missionary Training, of the Language School, will sail with his family for a year's furlough on the Empress of Russia, leaving Shanghai on June 25. During his absence, Mr. W. F. Wilson, principal of the University Middle School will be acting dean. Mr. Liu Ching-fu, vice-president of the Middle School, will be acting principal.

JAPS TO FIGHT TAX

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

San Francisco, June 17.—The Japanese societies in America are engaging lawyers to investigate the constitutionality of the California law imposing on all aliens a yearly poll tax of ten dollars.

Washington, June 17.—The Japanese Consul-General has requested the Japanese Ambassador, Baron Shidehara, to advise him as to whether the California Alien Poll Tax Law contravenes the treaty between the United States and Japan. The Consul-General stated that local Japanese societies had requested the co-operation of the Japanese Association in testing the constitutionality of the law.
